...and one man in his time plays many parts.

--Shakespeare

From the moment we step hesitantly onto the stage as Freshmen until the moment the curtain rings down in our Senior year, the grand finale, we, as individuals, are playing our parts in the drama of high school. Within the plot are conflicts, satisfactions, lasting friendships, frustrations, and never-ending changes, all which combine to establish the future success of the players on the stage of life. We, as members of the cast, must perform in several roles, as playwrights, producers, or actors, the responsibility for the play's success is essentially ours. As the class of '62 takes its last curtain call, it leaves behind a collection of programs, impressed with age-old traditions and new ideas.

An Act

of Dedication

THE TIME 1946, the first post-war year. America is readjusting to peace. The word "baby sitter" is new to the language; the most popular song of the year is one with a hope-filled lyric entitled "It Might As Well Be Spring."

THE PLACE A handsome American high school, Californian in its Spanish architecture, which boasts a stately tower not yet adorned with a steeple clock. In the nearby community are countless families, reflecting a rising birthrate that will overcrowd this quiet institution with large graduating classes in the sixteen years to come.

THE STAR A teacher who makes her entrance on the scene at this time, a dedicated and idealistic young woman reflecting a resolute desire to be ever helpful, encouraging, and always patient.

Sixteen years have passed since she made her entrance. The many shifts and changes at Harbor High have not dimmed the idealism nor diminished the dedicated purpose of that teacher, friend, and counselor, our vice-principal Fay Harbison.

We, the sixteenth graduating class since she came to Harbor, now sincerely dedicate our 1962 Galleon to her, in gratitude and unforgetting respect.

Suellen Henderson

EDITOR

The

Directors

In addition to the players, the playwrights and the producers there is one other ingredient necessary to a successful production - - - the directors.

The faculty members of Newport Harbor High School serve well as directors in a never-ending production, with a new and different plot and a new and different cast each year to produce a climax to every act - - - the graduation of a Senior Class. May you play your role in life as successfully as you have in this production.

Joseph Hamblet

PRINCIPAL

Mr. Joseph Hamblet could easily be deemed the symbol of Harbor's efficiency. To him have come the many important decisions which have produced an efficient schedule, an expanded curriculum, and an atmosphere of congeniality between faculty and students. He has fulfilled his innumerable duties and responsibilities with a diligence not often equalled, and for this reason he now holds the position of President of CASSA, District 21, a portion of the California Association of Secondary Administrators.

Harbor High's managing group, the Board of Trustees, decides school policies, approves sites, buildings, and activities of the schools, giving Harbor its solid background and reputable name.

"No more dramatic change occurs in life than the great climax in maturing that happens between the entering Freshman and the departing Senior," Mr. Max Russell, District Superintendent said of our high school experience, and emphatically added that our achievements as well as our facilities "shall be second to none."

Mr. Russell strives to help the student in the dramatic change by creating an atmosphere that allows each individual to develop his potential to the utmost. It is his objective to supply every student with an environment in which he can and will apply himself.

In Mr. Russell's experience, he has taught grades one through twelve, and has held the position of assistant superintendent in the San Mateo Union High School District. We may rightfully say that much of the responsibility for the Play's success depends upon him.

A warm personality and an interested attitude are two of the outstanding characteristics of Dr. Norman R. Loats, recently appointed Assistant Superintendent in charge of instruction. Previous to his acceptance of this position in the spring of 1961, Dr. Loats was assistant superintendent in Riverview Garden High School District, St. Louis, Missouri. He possesses wide and varied abilities in the many-faceted field of education. His experience as a teacher and principal of two high schools, administrative assistant in charge of secondary education, and assistant superintendent of schools, clearly illustrates his versatility in his profession.

Dr. Loats is most explicit in his appraisal of California. He likes it very much--particularly the Newport Harbor area. He genuinely feels that the opportunities for students at Newport Harbor High are innumerable and that the atmosphere is one in which smiles and studies are well mingled.

Successfully combining her time, effort, and ingenuity into the job of Girls' Vice-Principal, is Mrs. Faye Harbison. Her work includes the diligent leadership of curricular development, the placement of Harbor's students before the public, enlisting community support for educational projects, and advising the Girls' League. Her kind consideration in matters of counseling and discipline, along with her pleasing personality, has brought respect from all who know her.

Reading the daily correspondence - one of many tasks.

That's the way I see it sir. What do you think?

Mr. Robert Magnusson is incessantly demonstrating his concern and ability in the position of Boys' Vice-Principal. His tolerance and understanding in cases of counseling and discipline have made him an integral part of Harbor. Mr. Magnusson's major activities include guidance of those who have trouble adjusting to the curriculum, the supervision of Harbor's faculty, and the adjustment of extra-curricular activities. He feels that the most profitable aspect of his job is getting to know each boy individually.

"Your absence will remain unexcused until you bring the note from home". . . .seldom does the day begin without this comment. Mr. Jack King, capably assisted by Miss La Delle Nelson and two office practice grils per period, readmit some two hundred students each day, lists absent performers and calls their homes, and supervises the ussuing of tardy and discipline slips. Last fall, Mr. King was called into the army after six years of devoted service to Harbor High.

Keeping permanent records of students' performances, to which their prospective colleges and employers may refer, is but one of the functions of the main office staff. Without these competent persons, what would become of the many forgotten lunches, books, glasses, papers, sweaters, and gym clothes? Whether it be for guidance or for business, students depend upon the advice of the secretaries.

Six o'clock a.m. finds the members of the cafeteria and galley staffs well along in their task of preparing hot lunches for the students of Harbor High. Mrs. Elva Jennings devoted much time and effort to the planning of these nutritious and appetizing meals. The permanent addition of the new square galley supplemented a booming business.

Mrs. Margaret Anderson, counseling office secretary, has given many years of service to Harbor. She helps the counselors in many activities, such as the sending of counseling slips, taking care of personal correspondence, and other important duties of a competent secretary. Her helpfulness to those who have been new to the school has been just one of the invaluable services to emerge from the counseling offices.

These are the true stage hands.

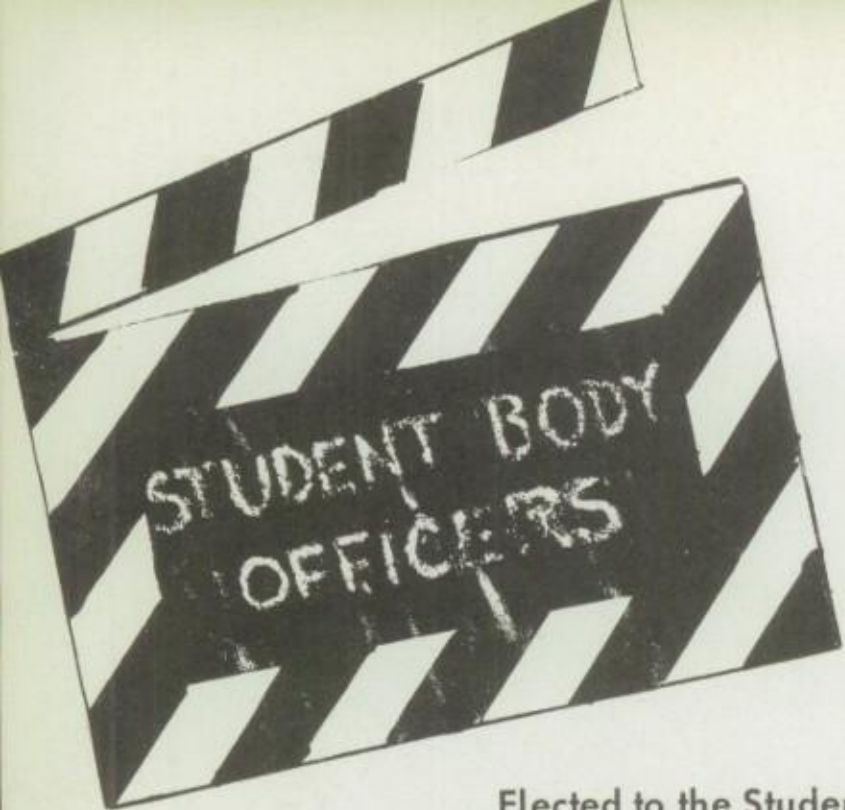

Willing and reliable, our custodians cope with emergencies ranging from shorted lighting fixtures to broken plumbing pipes. In addition, they serve as bus drivers when necessary. The custodians keep sets and scenery a pride to students and community.

Elected to the Student Body Presidency after only two years at Harbor, Gary Galusha has done an outstanding job in his office. As President, he has been in charge of assemblies, headed Executive Council meetings, presided over school dances, and corresponded with other schools.

Associated Student Body Secretary, Jean Forbes, is one of Harbor's most active students. Being the vivacious leader that she is, Jean has served Harbor well in the past four years. She was a member of the executive council for three years, and the experience she gained in this job provided her with outstanding qualifications for Student Body Secretary. Also, for two years she has displayed excellent leadership as a song-leader. Several of Jean's duties in her present office are to take the minutes at executive council meetings, to carry out correspondence with other schools, and to act as secretary to the other officers.

After only two years at Harbor High, Roy Woolsey, student body treasurer, has proven himself to be an experienced and capable leader.

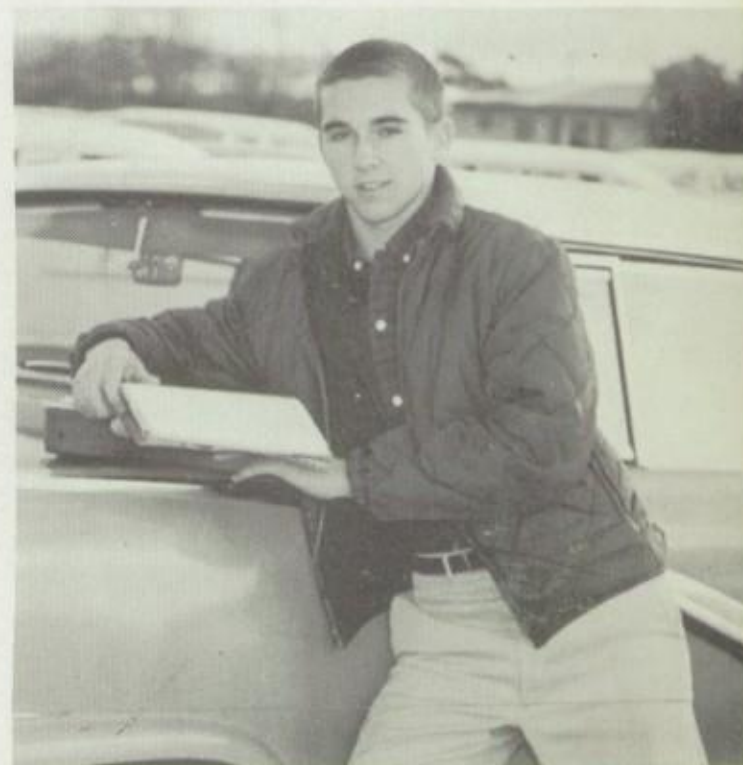

Roy's job involves giving reports on school funds at executive council meetings, and assisting Mr. Wulff with the student body books. Two unique, successful contributions made by Roy were the organization of a new budget and the setting-up of a student body store.

Serving as president of Student Congress, leading the flag salute every morning, and assisting the Student Body President are Rusty Packard's more important duties as Student Body Vice-President. Rusty, who was president of his Sophomore class, president of his Junior Class, a Key Club officer, and a member of the Junior Optimists, has demonstrated his ability of expert leadership time and time again.

Ken Bonner, as the California Association of Student Councils Representative, has done a commendable job. It has been his duty to attend conferences held throughout the school year for the discussion and solution of school problems. The aim of these discussions is to develop a better relationship between schools.

Ken has been active in executive council for two years and has been an active member of student court and Key Club. He plans to attend the University of Southern California in the fall.

Through their capable efforts, Student Court Judges Randy Wright and Bruce McClaire have successfully enforced the maintenance of clean and orderly grounds. They have worked hard to perform the many duties which have confronted them and their student court teams, providing a leadership that has been invaluable to the smooth functioning of Harbor's clean campus.

Randy and Bruce have both been active participants in football, basketball, Key Club, honor roll, and sailing, along with a number of individual activities throughout their high school years.

Capably heading the Uniform and disciplining any offenders of the traditional uniform regulations, is Girls' League Vice-President Louise Feeney.

The last Friday of every month is declared by the court as "civie-day" a welcomed change from the everyday regulations of black or navy blue skirts, white blouses, and sweaters worn with dickies.

Comprising the Executive Body

Harbor High's governing body, known as the Executive Council, is composed of the Student Body Officers, the Student Court Judges, and two representatives from each class. It is their duty to handle all appropriations of student body funds, select and schedule the year's assemblies, establish new laws and privileges, grant recognition to deserving student organizations, and to be an active medium between the student body and faculty. Under the advisorship of Mr. John Rose, the Executive Council enacts all school legislation, and this year has organized the Student Store.

Contact with the Students

Jeanne Brubaker has done a commendable job as Girls' League President, besides being a songleader and an active member of French Club and Sailing Club. Service on the Girls' League Cabinet as vice-chairman of the art committee in her junior year prepared Jeanne for the responsibilities of the presidency. She plans to attend the University of Oregon as an art major and hopes to become an art teacher on the high school level.

The most important function of the Girls' League is an amicable attitude among Harbor's girls. This has been successfully accomplished under the leadership of its President, Jeanne Brubaker. Among the many special activities which the Girls' League sponsors, are the annual Mother-Daughter Tea, Homemaking Department Fashion Show, colorful Sadie Hawkins Dance, Spot-light Awards for outstanding Senior girls, and the new Big-and-Little-Sister organization which is designed to bring about a better understanding of Girls' League and familiarity on Harbor's campus. It has been through the capable efficiency of the officers and members of Girls' League that this year has proven to be one of the most profitable.

Student Congress was formed one year ago to give the students of Harbor High an increased voice in the government of the school. Representatives to Student Congress were elected by their fourth period classes. The Student Congress made such recommendations to the Executive Council as slave day and Senior parking. The third period sessions of Student Congress were advised by Mr. Ray Werner.

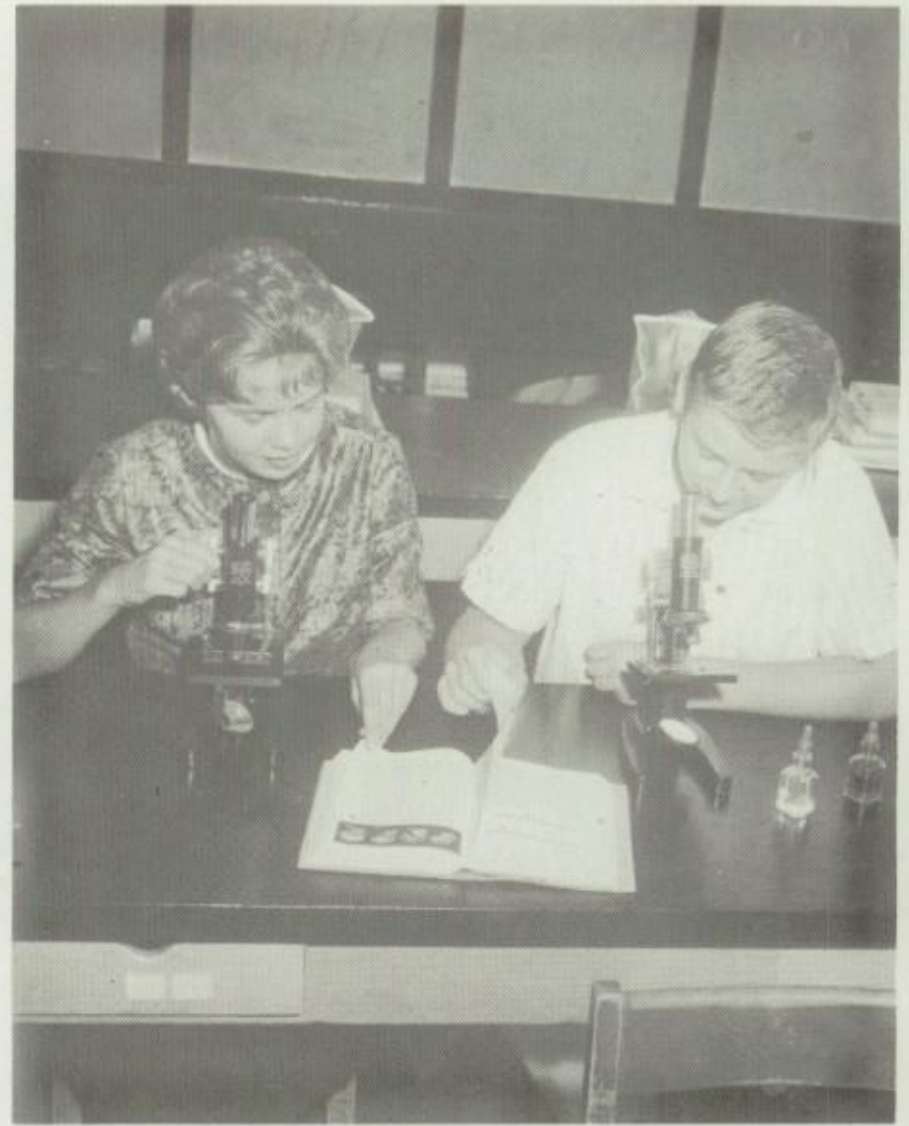

The Play

There are no requirements for membership in the Biology Club--it is simply for those students who are interested in the biological sciences. Throughout the year the club took many field trips. On December 2nd they visited Marineland of the Pacific in the morning and spent the afternoon collecting sea life at Cabrillo State Beach. In February they took a trip to the Los Angeles County Museum and the State Exposition Building.

First-hand observation enabled members of the Law Club to broaden their knowledge of the legal profession. Persons interested in the workings of the law or in law as a future profession were welcomed as members. Law enforcement officers and prominent lawyers were invited as guest speakers. The active group made regular visits to civilian and military trials, law schools, prisons, and law offices.

Medicae Artes is essentially a service club for students who are interested in a career in medicine. Besides taking trips to various hospitals and institutions they have established a club policy of taking whatever money is in their treasury at the end of the year and contributing it to a worthwhile cause. Last year, for instance, they gave two pairs of crutches and an orthopedic mattress to the National Foundation. Another project of Medicae Artes is preparing a Thanksgiving and a Christmas basket for a needy family.

Throughout the year the club has met the second and fourth Wednesday of each month. Mrs. Margaret May is the Medicae Artes sponsor.

Numerous activities such as field trips, guest lectures, and interesting films, made up the year's program of the Engineer's Club. The meetings, planned and put into effect by the science and mathematics students of which the club is made, are aimed to inform the members of future careers in engineering.

Harbor's Radio Club under the direction of shop and electronics teacher Mr. Edward Parsons, provides an opportunity for students interested in electronics to gain experience in that field. Throughout the year the club met once a week. Two of its main activities included building transmitters and other equipment and operating the radion station - WA6FSR. President of the Radio Club is David Hammod.

The established theme of Harbor's TAP Club "Service to the Community." Obviously the club is a success, for in September of last year, after only one year of organization, it received the trophy for the greatest TAP activity in Orange County.

At the end of last year TAP gave a bedside table and a pair of crutches to the National Foundation. This past year the club sponsored a booth at the Business and Professional Womens' 15th annual Christmas preview. The purpose of this booth was to raise money for the March of Dimes.

The well known Key Club of Harbor High is an active branch of an international service club, which in this area is sponsored by the Kiwanis Clubs of Newport Beach and Costa Mesa. The fundamental objectives of Key Club are the activation of its members to serve unselfishly the school and community, the promotion of friendship and fair-play, and the provision of the training necessary for the development of future leaders.

This year's successful agenda has been prepared and carried out under the capable leadership of Key Club's president, Steve Lewis, its officers, and their advisor, Mr. Malcolm Buchanan.

Encouraging intercultural exchange and promoting international understanding on the local scale, are the main purposes of the American Field Service. Maintaining the A.F.S. bookstore, providing a hospitable atmosphere for its foreign exchange students and assisting in the raising of funds which send Harbor students abroad, are the other duties of A.F.S. Advising the club's various activities, which help to acquaint the exchange students with American customs, places and families is Mr. Gillis.

Elina Ricciardi-Viel and Antoine Khoury are this year's American Field Service exchange students. They represent wholly different parts of the world: Elina is from Montevideo, Uruguay, while Antoine hails from Damascus, Syria--the former United Arab Republic. Elina is an enthusiast of practically all sports--particularly tennis and volleyball. Her ambition is to become an industrial chemist. Antoine's favorite sport is basketball; another is football which is closely comparable to the game of soccer in his country. Fact is that Antoine holds the distinction of being the first and only exchange student ever to be sent from Syria. His chosen field of endeavor is petroleum engineering.

This year's Spanish Club, open to all Spanish students, has sponsored a Christmas Party for a childrens' ward at Fairview Hospital, taken its annual trip to Padua Hills in Claremont, and decorated a Christmas display case for Dodge Hall.

The purpose of this group is to become more familiar with Spanish speaking peoples and their customs.

Guest speakers, films, slides, and informal discussions enriched French Club members' understanding of the language and people of France. Profits from a fund-raising project made a party and field trip possible. Advisor Mrs. Mary Lee Richmond worked with the officers to plan these activities.

Speaking in Foreign Tongues

The Spanish Honor Society, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Le Lievre, is an organization for those students proficient in Spanish. To qualify for membership, a student must have obtained at least two A's and a B in Spanish at the end of three consecutive semesters. To remain in the club he must maintain an A grade. The club met four times throughout the year. The first was a business meeting, the second a social meeting whose program consisted of Spanish songs and dances, the third a meeting in which new members were installed, and the fourth a field trip to Padua Hills during which the senior members were honored.

Mrs. LeLievre points out some of Spain's most colorful cities to members of the Spanish Honor Society.

Representing the cheerleaders, songleaders, pep band, flag twirlers, and drill team, ten members of the pep commission were dedicated to promoting school spirit. They encouraged attendance at games and sports events by planning rallies and making posters. The group concluded an active year by conducting the cheerleading clinic for aspiring Sophomores and Juniors in Spring.

Stepping high behind drum major Sandy Eastman, the Harbor High School Concert and Marching Band fell into saucy formations at football games and in district competition. They devised the "Beat the Saints" chant which contributed to school spirit at the football games. Advisor Mr. Clinton Sawin deserves much of the credit for the Concert and Marching Band's success.

This year, Miss Marie Hiebsch formed three new choral groups besides the Acappella Choir and the Larkettes. The Choraleers give the opportunity to all girls who have never sung before, to learn the arts of choral work and vocal performance. The Girls Junior Choir and also the Girls Freshman Choir are preparatory groups for students who later wish to join either the Larkettes or the Acappella Choir.

Members of Acappella Choir are given the opportunity to learn the finest in choral compositions. It has been distinguished at Christmas programs, Spring shows and other school programs. The Larkettes is a group of outstanding feminine singers who represent Harbor by performing before service clubs, churches and women's clubs in the community.

EDITOR

Copy-reading, editing, and supervising the Beacon publications is Senior Editor-in-chief, Mike Morey. His help in assisting the associate editors and reporters has been a definite asset to the paper's bi-monthly production.

ASSOCIATE EDITOR

Assisting the editor in his many tasks, is Junior Karen Petersen. Her diligent efforts to meet all challenges that come her way, has made her associate editor.

FEATURE EDITOR

Planning page two is the time-consuming job of Cathy Bjorklund, a Harbor Junior. The capability with which she goes about her work is evident each time the Beacon comes off the press.

PAGE THREE EDITOR

Responsibility for lay-outs, copy, and the writing of articles is the interesting job of Kathy Reynolds, a Senior. Her journalistic ability has been well proved throughout the year.

Beacon

SPORTS EDITOR

Dave Black's duties as Beacon Sports Editor consisted of planning pictures, planning copy, assigning photographers, and many others. In each of the Beacon's thirteen issues was a personal column by Dave reflecting his views on sports.

Editor-in-chief Mike Morey led the Beacon staff to produce outstanding high school publications. The numerous minor tasks, combined with those whose significance was of utmost importance, challenged every member of the staff, and through their willing enthusiasm for the publication they met every deadline date. The entire production of the bi-monthly Beacon was accomplished by the hard-working editors and reporters. To them and their advisor, Mr. Donald J. Ulander, go the credit for an outstanding paper.

REPORTERS

Combining their journalistic talents into the excellence of copy, are the six Beacon reporters. Their jobs consisted of interviews, editorial contributions, news gathering, and a number of other equally important tasks.

PHOTOGRAPHER

Senior Randy Reddick composes the efficient photography staff. It is up to him to set up and take the Beacon's fine photos.

Students having an interest in creative writing may have their literary efforts rewarded through Harbor's annual literary magazine, Flotsam and Jetsam. Its staff, formed by creative writing students, must read thoroughly a great number of submitted papers, then re-read them, offering ideas and suggestions for further improvement where necessary. This endless reading, editing, and debating the dozens of manila files of classifications, and the frayed nerves and after school hours have paid off in producing one of the best magazines in the history of Flotsam.

Acquainting Freshmen with Harbor's Traditions

Helping incoming freshman girls become more familiar with Harbor and its customs is the primary purpose of the Big and Little Sisters. Advised by Mrs. Fay Harbison, the group sponsored a picnic held in the patio of the Home Arts building at the beginning of the year where freshmen girls became acquainted with their "big sisters" and directed various questions to them. In December, they also sponsored a fashion show and tea. In its first year of existence, it has been very successful and has promoted better school spirit and understanding.

Last year's summer school term boasted the total attendance record 60% higher than the two previous years of its history. Mr. Rose, Dean of summer school, feels that forty-two of the best teachers available helped to better the term even more.

There are several purposes behind the existence of summer school. First, a large number of courses are offered to give the student the opportunity to choose some which he might not otherwise be able to work into his fall schedule; or he may choose courses which will free his next year's schedule for other electives. Second, certain courses are offered to enrich the program of the student who has demonstrated superior achievement in his past work, and allow him to prepare for much more advanced work than would otherwise be possible. The third group of courses is designed to provide the opportunity for a student to better himself by improving his grades or by making up deficiencies.

This year's Drill Team, expanding to 94 marching members, has been very effective in promoting spirit at our football games during half-time activities. Their clever formations and smart uniforms added much color to the gaiety of the occasion.

Sandy Eastman

Stepping high behind drum major Sandy Eastman, the Harbor High School Concert and Marching Band fell into saucy formations at football games and in district competition. They devised the "Beat the Saints" chant which contributed to school spirit at the football games. Advisor Mr. Clinton Sawin deserves much of the credit for the Concert and Marching Band's success.

This year's performance by the flagtwirlers was an impressive addition to the Drill Team's formation on the football field. Twirling their blue and white flags to the music of the school band, these girls portrayed the continuous enthusiasm of Harbor's school.

In the Bee division coaches Bill Straw and Phil Spivey combined to produce a squad predominantly composed of Sophomores and Juniors. Expectation ran high for the Bees after their performance in practice games, but hopes fell when they received key defeats from Anaheim and Santa Ana. The team came back to win their remaining games and take fourth place. Outstanding Bees included Rick Lancaster, Jeff Pierose, and Mike Brooks.

Coach Emil Neeme recruited a fast-moving squad of former Jayvees and three returning lettermen for the 61-62 season. Tight defense from Steve Lewis and Dave Rosso was equaled by their shooting ability, with able support from team members Chuck Peyton, Chris McLachlin, and Mark Ritter. Playing many outclassed squads the team gave rough competition to all comers, though dividing their wins and losses. Banquet awards went to Dave Rosso, Captain; Steve Lewis, Most Valuable; Chris McLachlin, Most Improved; and Chuck Peyton, Player of the Year.

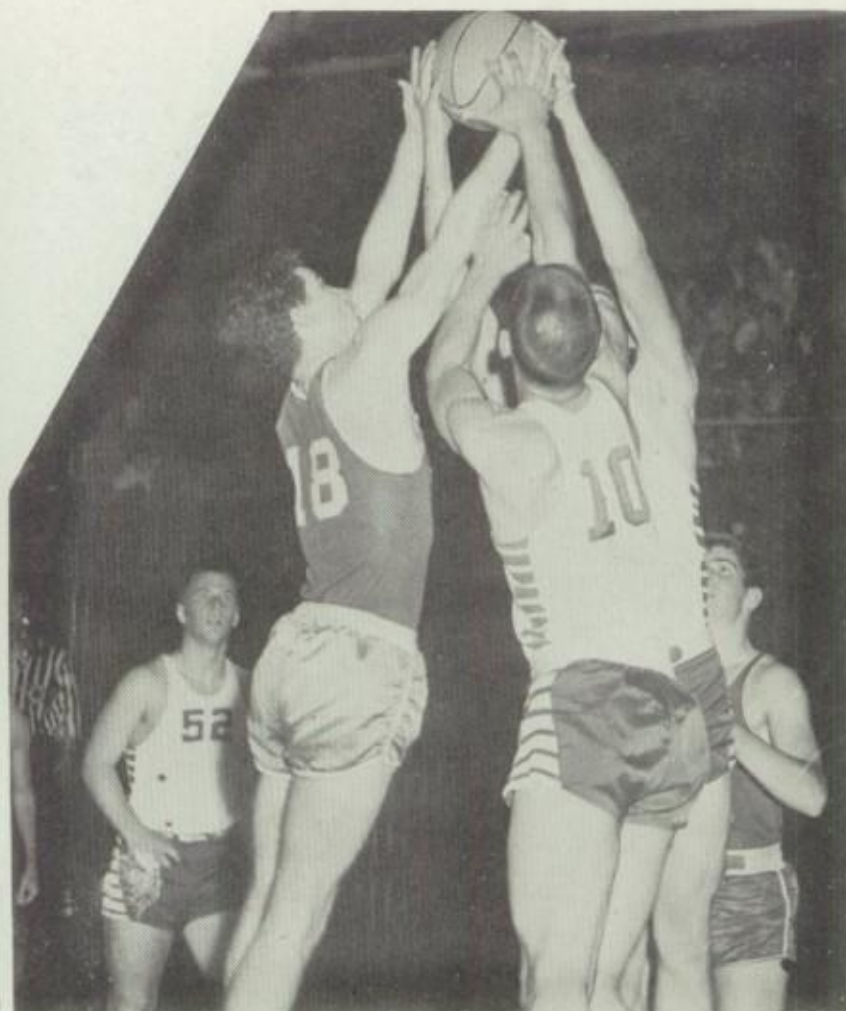

After a slow start Coach Jerry Fowles' Jayvees co-ordinated into a well-knit squad with good potential next season. Prospects include rebound-man Bill Brockman and high-scoring Captain Jeff Lowe. Tim Brown was Most Improved while Todd Hess was thought to be Most Inspirational.

Bee Basketball

Bee Hoopsters compiled an 11-3 record to climb to second place in the final standings. Injuries plagued the team in the second round, but they still showed great enthusiasm and tallied a 5-2 record. The experience gained by the team, composed primarily of freshmen and sophomores, should be a real asset to future teams. Banquet awards went to Bob Manwaring, who was selected Captain, along with Bob Ferguson, Most Valuable; and Ron Pereira, Most Improved.

Varsity And Junior Varsity Cross Country

Training to the cry "It'll be fun after we've won in 1961!" the Tar Harriers finished the Season in a close second behind three-time C.I.F. champion La Habra in rugged Sunset League competition. The trio of Vince Swwetser, Tim Rysdale, and Ed Healy swept top honors in every meet, doing credit to the efforts of Coach Bob Hailey. Sailors Doug Severence, Lee Stebbins, and Bob McKeever headed the third place junior varsity cross country squad.

Varsity Track

Living up to its expectancy as an outstanding division of Harbor's athletics, was the varsity track team, performing under the learned eye of Coach Bill Straw. Their avid participation in all meets brought them added respect, as well as their inevitable honors. With such track material as veterans Tom Barnum, Vincent Sweetzer, Rick Jacklin, and all other equally outstanding trackmen, how could we lose?

Tom Barnum easily sails over the low hurdles.

Bee Track

Performing with utmost speed and skill, the Bee squad, with many exceptional team members, found it exceedingly difficult to lose to their league opponents. The scores, on the whole, were very impressive; again illustrating Harbor tradition of outstanding athletic ability.

Varsity Swimming

A Harbor Tar starts the final lap of the Varsity relay.

Rigid discipline, health diets, and three practices a day paid off for Coach Ed Newland's varsity swim team. With such material as Tony Ralphs, who placed third in A. A. U. competition last summer, veteran Jim Gage, and promoted Bees Larry Gibson, Jim Stauffer, Bill Leach, and Bob Nealy, C. I.F. honors were inevitable. We will miss Coach Newland when he joins the Corona del Mar High School staff next fall.

Bee And Cee Swimming

With most of his Bees swimming on the varsity squad, Coach Ed Newland still had many Bee surprises for our Sunset League opponents. Both the Bees and Cees looked strong in C.I.F. competition. Randy Howatt, Dennis Hurwitz, and Pat Glasgow sparked the Bees, while swimmers Jeff Clark, Sam Montgomery and Chuck Warren led the Cee effort.

The Bees closed a successful season with the league championship. Dennis Hurwitz was singled out by Newland as top Bee performer.

Defeated in the semi-finals, a strong Cee squad led by Pat Glasgow wound up in third place.

Varsity Baseball

Commencing the season on an optimistic note, Harbor's Varsity nine, under the supervision of Coach Andy Smith, defeated Santa Ana in their first League game by a score of 6-0. The team was very lucky this year in its acquisition of many excellent new members as transfers from other schools. Several of the top players of the '62 season were Steve Lewis, Dale Townsend, and Phil Spiller. Prospects for next years' team are extremely promising as only two members will be leaving.

Varsity Wrestling

In its second year as a sport at Harbor High wrestling increased in popularity due to Coach Bill Hanke's outstanding wrestling squad. The Tar grapplers are now fully established as a team to be feared. It had an impressive standing of seven wins, one tie, and one loss, and the team finished first in the Westminster tournament and second in the OCC - Costa Mesa tournament. It was also the unofficial league champion. Eight men qualified for the C.I.F. semi-finals and one qualified for the C.I.F. finals. The standouts included Dick Monnville, Most Valuable; Roger Grable, Most Improved; and Bill Deane, Most Inspirational. High point man on the team was sophomore John Geyer. Co-captains on the team were Bill Deane and Pete Canale.

From this 1962 graduating class of Harbor High these students were selected as the "top" seniors of their class. Selection was determined by virtue of their high scholastic standings. (They are not listed in order.)

In passing let us recall to memory the image of our friend, Jeff Weaver, who, at the peak of his youthful vigor, so tragically departed from our midst.

Anyone for patty-cake?

Don't turn around Sherry, Vics behind you.

Come on! Please?!

So you swiped another one, eh Cheri?

They couldn't be seniors. Could they?

How should I know where she is?

Happy days are here again!

On Stage, The Seniors of 1961. . . .

Once again, as Seniors, we stride onto Harbor's familiar campus, a campus which has fostered dauntless spirit, lasting friendships, scholastic training, and the satisfaction of jobs well done. For we, who have engaged our spirits, in the busy years of high school, the time has been all too short. Even so, the colorful spectacles of competitive sports, memorable dances, and class activities shall make these the four most remembered years of our lives. Yes, we, the Seniors of 1962, have every reason to be proud, for through these years we have achieved our prospective goals, have attained a solid sense of values, and have prepared ourselves for the responsibilities which lie ahead.

Want to join my harem, girls?

Zap, Zap. Oh well, seniors will be seniors.

That's not. . . Oh yes it is--Christy and Diane.

What's the trouble girls? No energy!

Harbor's senior surf rats. Pete, Jean, Randy and Gretchen.

The night guzzling girls-in pajamas no less!

She hung up on me!

Quick, it's in her pocket!

Christy just passed a Physiology test.

Phooey! I'll start the diet tomorrow.

"It's all in a day's work" boasts Larry Brostedt.

Come on in boys, join the party!

Where's your diaper pins, Greg?

Who's that sweet smile for, Paula?
Don?

My, my, how you've changed, Miss Preen.

What is this, Joy and Sue? Bribery?

Did it really hurt that much?

In our various roles, we should not forget that the closing scene may not always find each member of the cast on stage for the finale. Midway in our drama, our friend and homemaking teacher, Mrs. Jean Mathews, was called from our midst, leaving us with the sense of tragedy that marks the profundity of life's deep meaning. To her we dedicate this page of scenes at Harbor High as a tribute to her memory.

Donna - How does it feel to be a senior? I loved it.
But I'm glad to be out anyway - you a great
'advice' to have - remember we were inducted at the same time? Such etc

Donna,
that I hope
will have some classes together like we didn't last year!! Next year as seniors I know we will have a BALL!! Loads of luck to a very deserving girl - Robin Hick

Donna:
I don't remember that you were very happy and good at school
like I did

Donna,
I was getting great getting to know you and now you are gone.
I don't know how to say goodbye to you. I will miss you and hope you are happy.

Donna -
We finally ~~for~~ Mrs.
survived! I had some doubts - great hope you had a see you summer - Will I did. We'll need really seem - Believe in your more of you your moral support! to see a Great Girl - Love
